Hello Celia,
Good morning.
The Director made a decision on the 11 nodes and we've uploaded the letter to the project webpage. Calendar days. Information regarding dates and logistics on how to file an appeal is on Page 2 of the letter.

I'll get back to you on the other questions as soon as possible.

Rebecca

Thank you so much, Rebecca,

I have one more question, does days-to-appeal refer only to business days, or does it include weekend days? When is the cut off date for appealing the ARB's/Director's decision?

Thanks!
Celia

Hello Celia Chow,
Regarding your question in your first email below:

- Each appealed node should be specifically listed by node number on the appeal form and in the letter stating the reason(s) for the appeal. As outlined in the Fiscal Year 2018 Municipal Fee Schedule found on the City's website (https://www.cityofpaloalto.org/civicax/filebank/documents/61512), the total fee to file an appeal for one or more nodes is two-hundred and eighty dollars ($280.00). The fee is refunded if the City Council chooses not to hear an appeal.

I'll get back to you on the other questions as soon as possible.
Regards,
Rebecca

Hi Rebecca,

It's my pleasure to meet you in person yesterday. Thank you for your help/support in the last several months. We have some additional questions about the appeal process. Please see below:

- How does Council's consideration of the appeal work (assuming we got 3 Council members to pull approval from the consent calendar)?
- Do we get to speak? How much time do we have? Is there time for public comments? How much time would Verizon get?
- Or is it the City that defends the Director's decision?
- Or do both Verizon and the City defend the Director's decision?

If you have answers to these questions, please let us know.

Also, I'd appreciate if you can let me know as soon as the Director's decision letter is out.

Thanks so much!
Celia

Hi Rebecca,

Would you mind to get back to me quickly about the appeal fees, is it per site or per cluster?

Thanks!
Celia
